Whether or not the United States will build more mortars of the type now installed at Battery Harlow, Fort Ruger, will depend upon the results of a firing test that began this morning under the critical scrutiny of several of the "higher-ups" in division military affairs.

This became known today when the tests began. The guns are being tried out to see if they will stand a high powder charge and give results under it. If not, the type used at Harlow will be modified in future construction, say the officers. Of this type but four have been made, and all are at the Harlow pits, so the eyes of not only the Western Division but of the entire Ordnance Department are upon these tests.

Two shots were fired this morning with a normal powder charge, from sixty-five to seventy-five pounds. The results were carefully noted. Tomorrow six more shots will be fired with a much higher charge, and it will be seen if the range is increased from 12,000 yards to more than 13,000. A longer range is the goal that the tests are directed towards.

At the tests this morning there were Gen. Macmillan, commanding the Department of Hawaii; Lieut. Col. Reese, chief engineer officer of the Western Division; Capt. Wadler of the Ordnance Department, who came here from division headquarters in San Francisco to witness the tests; Capt. Carter, Maj. Wooten, Corps of Engineers; and others. The projectiles used this morning weighed 824 pounds.

DEMOCRATS PLAYING POLITICS WITH SUGAR

BY C. S. ALBERT.

(Special Bulletin Correspondent, WASHINGTON, D. C., Mar. 17.) If the Democrats of the House will cease playing politics and become reasonable, we will not only assist them in passing a proper sugar bill, but all other tariff measures on their legislative program."

This is the dictum laid down by the Republicans of the Senate. They are willing to render all legitimate aid in putting up to President Taft any revision of the Payne-Aldrich schedule the House Democrats regard as necessary to their policy, but they balk at going beyond that point. The Progressives do not care to have an immigration go throughout the country that they are supporting straight out Democratic policies.

Hence, the progressive Republicans held a conference and discussed the free sugar bill reported from the ways and means committee. They were unanimous in the opinion that it was a grandstand play to the farmers and poor people of the country. In fact, it was nothing but a political move. They agreed that it was impossible for them to travel with the

Kauai For Taft

MAHUKA CASE WITNESS VALUES BUILDING BY PEOPLE WHO WALK

Taft sentiment is so strong on Kauai that it is practically universal. Such is the report brought back from the Garden Island by J. P. Cooke, president of the Taft League, who has returned from a business trip.

"Taft sentiment is all over the island, and so far as Kauai is concerned there need be no fear that there won't be an instructed Taft delegation to the Chicago convention," said Mr. Cooke this morning. "I found that everybody is in favor of Taft."

The Taft League is going along smoothly in its plans for the Territorial convention. It is sticking to its two announced objects of getting a

That the Judd building at the corner of Merchant and Fort streets is more valuable than the Cummins building, occupied by Castle & Cooke, because most of the people coming from King street walk on the Ewa-side of Fort street as far as the McElroy store and then either cross diagonally or go to the Judd building or go to the Henry Waterhouse corner and from there to the Judd building, is the opinion of Deputy Tax Assessor Arthur W. Neely, who was placed on the stand in the Mahuka site condemnation case that was continued before Judge Cole in the Federal court this morning.

Neely followed the lead set by his elder Tax Assessor Charles T. Wilder, and valued the Cummins block at $87,-

(Associated Press Cable) CHICAGO, Ill., Mar. 19.—A strike of fifty thousand miners of the United States on April 1 is practically certain, following the failure of negotiations between the mine union officials and the coal operators.

WHAT MINERS DEMAND IN BIG LABOR FIGHT

Cabled news to the Bulletin from New York a few days ago brought the information that the United Mine Workers had decided to strike on April 1. Here is what they want and why:

Twenty per cent increase in wages.
Recognition of the union.
An eight-hour day.
A one year contract.
A minimum of $3.50 for miners; $2.75 for laborers.

No interference with check weighmen and check-docking houses.
Payment by the ton and not by the carload.
Abandonment of the Conciliation Board.

That the operators collect union dues from the miners.
